Randy Scheid is Appointed Director of Operations

At Dancik International.

Cary, NC, June 15, 2009: Randy Scheid, who has served as Client Services Manager at Dancik International for four years, is now Dancik's first Director of Operations. The position was created to provide a holistic approach to managing the unique workflow of a software company. Randy's mission is to improve and integrate processes across many departments at Dancik International - including R&D, programming, quality assurance, documentation, training, and support - so that all of our efforts will ultimately better serve you - our customers. Randy will work closely with the department managers to ensure that they have the necessary tools, processes, and metrics in place for success. Recently, Dancik International has made significant investments and upgrades to our technology and products. Therefore, our internal processes must be enhanced to meet the challenges of a new era. Randy will also continue as our interim Client Services Manager while we assess a potential replacement for the Client Services department. In Randy's new role, he will still be interfacing with clients regularly, and available for your calls. We are very excited about this position at Dancik International and how it will support our internal goals as well as the goals of our customers.
